HIGH SCHOOL OPERETTA FORECAST AS SUCCESS

Performance Friday Night Promises to Attract Large Audience

Washington Union High school's operetta, "The Toreadors," promises to be one of the best light productions that have been staged in the township for many years. Under the supervision of E. Bellici, all necessary changes have been made, and tomorrow night's performance will be a polished one, according to people who have been following the rehearsals. Bellici has arranged the musical scores, which are said to be splendid.

"The Toreadors" is the story of an austere Spanish don who wishes his daughters to marry famous toreadors, the latter being entirely willing to forego a few bulls in order to press their case with the girls. The daughters' former sweethearts, who have been left out of the picture, contrive to substitute beggars for the toreadors. In the subsequent mix-up, the sweethearts manage to bring their love affair to a suitable ending by marrying the daughters.

Comedy in the production is furnished by the beggars, who often find themselves in ludicrous situations. Four Spanish dances, in the nature of musical comedy choruses, are spaced throughout the play.

ALFALFA WEEVIL INVESTIGATED NEAR NILES

A. E. Michelbacher and M. A. Cazier, of the department of entomology at the University of California, are investigating Washington township alfalfa fields for infestation of the alfalfa weevil, a leaf eating pest. The entomologists are cooperating in this work with W. B. Kirk, county agricultural inspector.

Infestation in Washington township has not reached any alarming proportions, and the majority of alfalfa crops are in no great danger, Michelbacher said.

Entomologists state that the pest is a native of the Mediterranean region of Europe. It made its first appearance on this continent in 1904, in Utah, where it did considerable damage. From there the infection spread into large areas in the great basin, in the states of Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado and Nevada.

In California its presence was first noticed near Tracy last May. According to the Entomologists, the infestaton in Washington township seems to be more or less confined to somewhat neglected fields, where the pest has been allowed to flourish undisturbed. Under good care, proper cutting and irrigation little damage may be expected.

WATER LOWERED BY DREDGING ACTIVITY IN STREAM CHANNEL

Reports Show Level Is Twelve Feet Under That of 1932

Water released by the San Francisco water department from Calaveras dam has not as yet greatly increased the level of ground waters in Washington township. According to Frank Nuens, water district official at Niles, the rise west of the Niles-Irvington fault trace has been slow this spring because of an unusually low level that prevailed throughout the preceding fall and winter.

Absence of moisture in upper reaches of the underlying gravels throughout the winter, delays the saturation of gravels during Spring water releases. East of the fault, the level is some twelve feet lower than last year at this time, the difference being caused by a lowering of the stream channel directly over the fault trace by dredging activities. Water is diffused into the western reaches of the Niles cone, where it is lost because of its relatively small quantities. Continuation of the release from the dam will raise the level near Niles to a higher point, depending on the intensity of irrigation pumping, and the loss over the lowered fault barrier.

DISTRICT OFFICIAL VISITS NILES REBEKAHS

Members of Niles Rebekah lodge entertained District Deputy Grand President Anna Hanifen, of Pleasanton, at their meeting Friday night. This was the regular official visit of Mrs. Hanfen.

After a short business session the evening was spent playing cards. Prizes were awarded to those having highest and lowest scores. At the close of the entertainment refreshments were served. Refreshment committee consisted of Mrs. Catherine Plum, charman; Mrs. Martha Roland, and Mss Edth Yrston.

FORMER STAR HERE

Insurance Agents to Hold Anniversary Dinner Soon

A dinner celebrating the tenth anniversary of the Alameda County Association of Insurance Agents, will be held on the evening of May 11, at the Hotel Belvoir. This dinner celebrates the founding of the organization in nineteen twenty-three at a similar dinner at the same hotel.

Speaker of the evening, according to James Collins, president of the organization, may be Harvey Bond of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce. As yet it has not been definitely decided if he can be present.

F. V. Jones, who was first president of the association, will probably give a short resume of developments since nineteen twenty-three.

LOCAL UNIVERSITY CLUB GIVES LOAN FOR U. C. STUDENTS

Fund Established In 1915 At Suggestion of Milicent Shinn

A local fund, fostered by Washington Township University Club, has been presented by that organization to the University of California, purpose of the fund being to assist in the education of worthy students.

Beginnings of the fund were in 1915, when Milicent Shinn, Phd., suggested that such a fund would be used to assist graduates of Washington Union High school, whose cases were considered worthy, in finishing their university training. Since the date of its founding the fund has been in the care of Clarence Martenstein, secretary of the local university club. Interest accruing for eighteen years has swelled the amount to two hundred dollars. Since no student at the local high school last year applied for the loan, it is being temporarily used to assist any worthy student at the university. As soon as application is filed by a worthy graduate of Washington Union High school, the fund will be returned to the purpose for which it was orininally intended.

The loan commitee of the local university club to whom credit is due for working on the fund, is made up of Mrs. J. C. Shinn, chair man; E. Burr, president of the Washington Township University Club; and Clarence Martenstein, treasurer of the club.

YOUNG LADIES PLAN DANCE FOR MAY 6th

Final plans for the Prosperity Hop to be given jointly by the Niles Young Ladies' Institute and the American Council Y. M. I. No. 8, of Oakland at the Niles Veterans' Memorial building, Saturday night, May 6, were completed at a special committee's meeting held at the home of George Landis, of Oakland, Wednesday evening, (last.)

This affair is to be one of the great social events of the year given by the De Guadelupe Institution of Niles

Girls who attended the meeting last Wednesday evening representing the institute were, the Misses Elinor Silveria, of Irvington, chairman; Hazel Mendoza, of Sunol, chairman of publicity; Lena Dutra, and Eloise Silva, of Decota and Mrs. Katherine Pereira, of Oakland, president.

A committee of boys consisted of George Landis, chairman; George Hildreth, chairman of publicity; Frank Walsh, George Ring, Joe Kranun, Milton McQuaid, Frank McCarthy and Bob Duggan, all of Oakland.

ENTHUSIASM SHOWN OVER NILES WILD FLOWER EXHIBIT

Botanists Acclaim Show As Most Complete Display Seen

J. E. Townsend, chairman of the Niles Wild Flower Show, has announced that the official count of visitors at the affair Saturday and Sunday totaled between 1800 and 2000. Register showed that the crowds were drawn from Santa Cruz, Hollister, Martinez, Concord, Port Chicago, Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley, Piedmont and San Francisco. Furthest registration was from Buenos Aires. In addition there were many visitors from eastern states who are staying here for a short time.

A total of 225 varieties of wild flowers was displayed, according to the final checkup. This display was much better, according to experts, as many fine species were shown.

Those present reported that the spectators included botanists, and that on the whole they were most enthusiastic. Appreciation of the help volunteered to assist in gathering specimens was expressed. People throughout the township, and organizations as well, showed a wonderful spirit of cooperation, officials of the show said.

TINEGA GROUP MAY ATTEND COUNCIL FIRE MAY 29

Tinega group of the Niles Camp Fire Girls, senior members, are now engaged in making baby layettes, Mrs. J. E. Townsend, guarian, announced this week. When completed these layettes will be given to some branch of the National Re Cross organization that is most in need of such supplies. Mrs. Townsend said that probably they would be given to some Oakland Red Cross chapter.

An announcement was made also concerning the Council Fire to be held at the Greek theater, University of California, for Camp Fire girls of Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley, on the evening of May 29. Members of the local organization hope to attend the affair if there is no rainfall, which would delay the outdoor performance.

SHRINERS TO HAVE DINNER MEETING MAY 10TH

Southern Alameda County Shriners will gather at Livermore on May 10 for their regular meeting and dinner. Officials of the Livermore rodeo will furnish entertainment, according to Ezra W. Decoto, president of the club who will preside at the gathering. Supervisor Ralph V. Richmond, of Niles, is vice president of the club.

Many officers of Ahmes temple of the Mystic Shrine, Oakland, will attend the Livermore affair headed by Potentate Earl Warren. Hayward will send a large delegation, according to Hans Vijby, secretary of the club, and one of the active workers. The Livermore dinner and entertainment will attract shriners from Pleasanton, Niles, Centerville, Hayward, San Leandro, Sunol, Newark, Oakland and other southern Alameda county points.

Mrs. R. Hunt, accompanied by her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. A. Mosher, drove up to the Bunting ranch near Mission San Jose on Monday. At a luncheon there, they met many old time friends.

PEA FARMERS FACE SEVERE SLUMP IN PRICE OF PRODUCE

Wholesale Prices Sink Low When Mississippi Ships Peas Here

Current labor troubles are by no means the only worries of Washington township pea producers, according to reports. Market conditions have become such that harvesting of township crops is a dubious procedure. Prices being paid for peas on the wholesale market almost totally exclude the chances for profit for the farmers, local growers say.

Prices to farmers this week range between one and one-qaurter cents and one and three-quarters cents per pound, the latter price being paid for the best quality peas available.

Market conditions are further complicated by the arrival of large pea shipments from Mississippi, according to Jesse F. Perry, prominent Decoto grower. Mississippi peas are sent to this state in carload lots under refrigeration. Perry intimates that the influx will last about ten days, during which period local producers will suffer loss if their crops must be harvested within that time. Many farmers plan to let their peas mature, and to thrash for seed.

No agitative outbreaks have occurred so far this week due to complete and vigilant lookout by officials. Officers are stationed at various points in the region with instructions to investigate all suspicious activity.

The Pea Growers Association of Alameda County is dealing with the price situation as efficiently as possible in the face of a difficult outlook. Started in 1929 the association has grown in membership from a beginning of thirty-six growers to a present membership of 130. This years sign-up is thirty per cent higher than that of last year, Perry said. Membership in the organization is allowed only to producers who made peas their main annual crop, function of the organization being expressly to facilitate handling of the crop and furnishing necessary advances to members for the harvest.

Pea shipments to the east are made by the organization direct with no middleman participating.

Present feebleness of the market may not be a lasting condition. Perry said. He intimated that if prices improve within the next two weeks, large quantities of peas will be harvested in Washington township. Frost damage here has been slight while large acreages in neighboring localities have been completely wiped out.

AUNT ELSIE CLUB MEMBERS SUBMIT MANY DRAWINGS

A meeting of the Niles Aunt Elsie Club was held at Niles Grammar school last Thursday afternoon, instead of Friday, the regular day. Mrs. J. W. Myers, adult advisor, anounced that fifty drawings and stories had been submitted by members. These will be forwarded to the headquarters of the Aunt Elsie Club in Oakland, with which the Niles branch is affiliated.

At this meeting three new members were enrolled, which brings the charter group up to seventy. Next meeting of the club will be held May 12, at Niles Grammar school.

Mrs. J. W Myers attended a luncheon in San Francisco Friday which was given by the National League of Penwomen.

NILES CIVIC BODY PLEDGES SUPPORT IN DECOTO R. R. FIGHT

Removal of Station At Decoto Held Evil To Township

Voicing full approval of Decoto's fight to maintain itself as a regular station on the Southern Pacific lines, the Niles Chamber of Commerce unanimously voted to render its full support to the threatened town. Lester Duffy was appointed to represent the Niles organization at a public meeting to be held at the Decoto fire house tomorrow afternoon. Both F. V. Jones and E. A. Ellsworth said that they would attend the meetng if possible.

Harvey Braun reported on arrangements for the Niles delegation to the Livermore rodeo, stating that the committee had decided to leave the final decision up to the chamber as a body. Subsequent discussion ended in the decision to have two automobiles participate in the parade. E. F. Glassbrook volunteered to use his car, and Ralph Richmond stated that he would attend if no conflicting supervisorial duties arose.

Various members spoke on the success of the Wild Flower show and it was moved and seconded that a formal vote of thanks be issued to all who helped in the project.

Further dscussion of the by-laws took place, and their final adoption was deferred until the meeting next Monday.

Ralph Richmond said that a number of reports from the Taxpayers' League had been received by the board of supervisors and that he had not quite finished perusal of them. He expects to be able to discuss them more fully later.

Harvey Braun in speaking of the Arroyo Sanitarium, said that the county was doing a splendid piece of work and that the institution fully justified its cost. He recommended that all interested members should inspect the establishment.

An outside speaker is promised for the edification and pleasure of those who attend the next meeting of Niles' civic body. Just who the speaker will be has not been announced.

Be On Guard Lest They Pick Your Pockets Again

Moratoriums are popular, and we guess necessary. The first moratorium was granted by President Hoover to the defaulters of Europe, and every since that hapless incident, moratoriums have been in order.

California has fallen in line and granted a moratorium on taxes for sixty days. A sort of stay of execution. The ax is suspended in midair for two months, while we sweat blood trying to pinch out of our merger wages and invisible profits enough money to keep the state government running in reckless abandon as it is under the blighting guidance of Rolph, the squanderer.

With the administration attempting to borrow money from the Re-Finance Corporation, and a moratorium on taxes, it does not take a smart mathematician to figure out the precarious perch we occupy, overlooking as it does the abyss of ruin.

In the face of facts, tragic as they are, the school system and the few other public bodies still untouched by the economic debacle are marshaling their forces at Sacramento fighting every move of the legislature to cut educational appropriations.

Let this sink into your brain, you harried business man and farmer: teachers' lobbyists are using every power they have—boycott and blackmail, feminine wiles and masculine trickery—to prevent any economy in school administration. It is almost beyond belief, but true.

Here in the township, Rathbone is drawing $4000 a year. Think of that handsome salary—$4000 a year, and not a dollar invested. How many of us with thousands of dollars invested, working twelve hours a day would be sitting on the top of the world just now if we could only make half that sum. No wonder this principal had no recommendation for salary cuts. How could a man take that money away from the taxpayers in this terrible year of want and tragedy and then ask the school board to cut the salaries of the faculty members under him? No, he wanted that outrageous salary, so he kept still. And they all hung together. The taxpayer—the poor yap—he is hanging separately on the limb of bankruptcy.

Well, are you going to stand for any more of this kind of hold-up, while practically everyone is rapidly slipping into a state of insolvency?

If you intend to assert your authority, assert

Meeting Tomorrow at Fire House to Go Over Controversy

According to Roland Bendel, president of Decoto Chamber of Commerce, a strenuous fight to retain Decoto as a station on the Southern Pacific railroad lines is being planned. Railroad officials have proposed to make Decoto a flag stop, saying that they will cut expenses thereby. Feeling is current Bendel said, that removal of the station at Decoto, if allowed, will be the entering wedge of a wholesale closing of stations in surrounding towns.

Residents of Decoto, Bendel stated, would be greatly inconvenienced if station were closed. All mail and baggage for Decoto would be delivered to Niles. It would be necessary for Decoto people to come to Niles for regular railroad service.

Friday afternoon, tomorrow, at one thirty o'clock, a public meeting is to be held at the Decoto fire house. This meeting is called by the railroad commission to hear what action shall be taken. Representatives of Niles Chamber of Commerce and the Centerville Lions Club are to attend, those organizations having pledged their wholehearted support to the Decoto Chamber of Commerce in attempting to retain the station.

Interested township people are urged to attend. Bendel hopes that the township will back him and his group in their efforts to maintain Decoto's place as a full fledged railroad passenger stop station.

DECOTO BOY SCOUTS BACK HOME AFTER SIERRA TRIP

During Easter week the Decoto Boy Scout troop was treated to an extraordinary outing for several days. Scoutmaster Peter Decoto, Hans Swanson and Richard Silva took the troop to Twain-Hart, in the Mother Lode country of the Sierras. Ample snow afforded splendid opportunity for all sorts of snow games. Of greatest interest to the scouts was a try at gold panning, and although no fortunes were washed out a few small nuggets were obtained.

The troop thinks that other scout organizations should take the same trip, insisting that no better outing is possible.

SOME POTATOES

The worker in the United States eats about 180 pounds of potatoes annually, while the German worker eats on the average, about 1,440 pounds.

A grape fruit is just a lemon that had a chance and made good.

A new feeling for men past fifty

If you've let yourself grow systemically old, here is a way to stimulate yourself without the slightest harm, and, in fact, with effects beneficial to the entire body.

This method of stimulating a sluggish system to new life is a doctor's discovery, so no one need hesitate to try it or believe in it. It is a sane, sensible way to keep keenly alive.

The only medicine you take is a most likeable and remarkable syrup made with fresh herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin. The benefits are many, and far-reaching. Its immediate effect on the lower bowel gets rid of lingering poisons better than a powerful laxative. In fact, you will need no other laxative if you take an occasional spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

If you regard yourself in fairly good health now, you might still find after a week or two of this gentle stimulation that you were only in a state of half-health before. It makes an amazing difference in the way one feels, especially at an age when one inclines toward auto-intoxication. (Daily headaches, failing appetite and tiring too easily are apt to be symptoms of a toxic condition.)

LIVERMORE BRINGS BACK SPIRIT OF OLD WEST

Reviving the days when the West was young and the cowboy ruled from a leather throne on the back of a wild-eyed mustang—when shiny new stage coaches, bobbing on leather springs, followed dusty trails toward the setting sun, a spectacular frontier parade will open the great Livermore Rodeo here May 13.

Eight of those same old coaches, scarred by highwaymen's bullets and scratched by Indian arrows, relics of a glorious past, will form a major entry in the procession. Owned by the Livermore Rodeo Association, the old coaches form the largest collection of authentic vehicles of the early West in existence. Their day of active service ended by the coming of the railroad, they now rest in storage here, making one appearance each year to herald the opening of California's greatest epic of wild western sport.

With Sheriff R. R. Veale, of Contra Costa county, as grand marshal, the parade offers particular honor to a grand old pioneer, a man who has spanned with his eventful life, the period between the old west of the stage coaches and the present day. Sheriffs of five other central California counties are expected to participate, among them being Sheriff M. B. Driver, of Alameda county, who will probably take the reins of an old stage coach, as he did in the days of his youth.

Covered wagons, with canvas covers torn by winds of the open prairie; huge freighters, with solid wooden wheels cracked by years of exposure to desert sun; chuck wagons at which the cowboys gathered for their bacon and beans; and hundreds of other vehicles of a bygone day will be in line.

Counties throughout the state will be represented in the procession, according to F. L. Herrick, parade chairman.

In addition to school organizations the American Legion, Parent-Teachers' Association, chambers of commerce and service clubs will participate in activities for this week.

This week was started during the period of the World War, when attention was centered on schools because of the critical condition caused by loss of teaching staffs, members of which entered service. This week has since become an annual affair held for the purpose of bringing together teachers, pupils, parents, taxpayers and other people interested in education so that a clearer idea of school administration and its needs can be gained.

Each school in Washington township will hold open house for one or two days, at which time the public is invited to attend. Some programs of special entertainment will be featured by various schools There will be displays of all kinds of work executed by students and exhibitions will be offered by class groups.

Niles Grammar School held open house Tuesday, with a special program in the evening. A Japanese playlet was presented by the primary grades, under the direction of Miss Cecelia Enos. Following this were songs by the seventh and eighth grades in unison and in three parts. E. Dixon Bristow principle, acted as host and made a few brief remarks.

Displays of handicraft and class work by all grades were remarkable in their excellence. The basketry turned out by the manual training clas was unusual in color design.

Of especial interest was the exhibit by the girls' sewing class, which showed all sorts of articles in varied colors.

In the lower grades work in nature study has progressed in a most satisfactory manner. Dozens of varieties have been preserved for research, making it possible for pupils to develop and extend their knowledge in this field.

Penmanship by the school is being cultivated to the point where this unit rates among the highest in Alameda county. Many students show amazing skill in flawless penmanship papers. Art also rates a high mark for color and subject in individual displays.

CENTERVILLE

Centerville grammar school entertained many visitors at open house which began Monday, when displays and exhibits were made of work accomplished by the students. As a special feature several songs and musical selections were rendered followed by a short play by the seventh grade. Some folk dances of different countries were performed by pupils of the upper grades.

At the close of the program, Principle Joseph Dias gave a short talk on the meaning of Public Schools Week.

Progress of the school system was indicated by the work of the students in all branches and grades.

Amador Dons Defeat San Leandro Nine in Practice Game

Amador Dons Take Advantage of Costly Errors

In a practice game played at the Amador field Tuesday afternoon, the Dons defeated the San Leandro high school nine by a score of 8 to 3.

San Leandro scored their first run on a walk and then with two away, an error let the man score.

Their second run came by virtue of a hit, followed by an error and another hit. Their final run came as the result of the catcher taking too much time to recover a dropped ball.

Amador played a good game, and took advantage of San Leandro errors. Bob Silva beat out play at first and allowed John Perry to score by so doing, and Frank Peters ran out his dropped third strike with the result that five runs were scored in that inning.

Silva, pitching for the Dons, struck out six, walked two and allowed five hits. The San Leandro twirlers struck out four, gave two passes and were nicked for eleven hits.

In the seventh inning Peters relieved Silva and Silva went to third base where he played fine ball.

This afternoon the Dons will meet the strong Emeryville nine at Emeryville.

Those who saw action for the Dons Tuesday were Silva, F. Peters, Dutra, Bud Perry, John Perry, Cintrone, Hardy, Safreno, Joe Peters, Reimers, Mello and Bernard.

it now. In a few weeks the school board will be hiring a principal and teachers, and if you are not on the job, it will be the same old story of last year—callous indifference to the exegencies of the times!

Perhaps, as a sort of sop to you, the teachers MAY CONSENT to let the school board cut salaries ten per cent, but anything less than a 30 per cent salary reduction is purely and simply a futile gesture.

What we need is a new principal. A man who can and will represent us, not the teachers only. It is time that the man who pays the bill gets a little consideration. And he is going to get it, or he is going broke, and the goose that laid the golden egg will be deader than the Pharaohs sealed in the golden caskets of the tombs in the Valley of the Kings.

Final Plans Complete for Pleasanton Public Schools Week

Students of Pleasanton Township To Take Part

Final plans for the Public Schools Week program to be held at the Amador Valley high school in Pleasanton next Wednesday evening were completed this week, acording to Sam Glassey, of Pleasanton, who is chairman of the arrangements.

Students from the Dublin, Antone, Sunol and Pleasanton grammar schools and the Amador Valley high school will take part in presenting the program.

This year marks the fourteenth annual observance of the Public Schools Week. The purposes of the week are primarily to inform the people concerning California's program of public education; to develop that faith and confidence in the people for their schools that is expected to result from a genuine understanding of the objectives, technique and outcomes of modern education; to secure for the school and the community the reciprocal benefits of close contact and to answer the type of destructive criticism of the public schools that is too often based on inadequate knowledge of real conditions.

The program will be under the direction of Harry Tripp and is as follows:

Community singing by the audience.

Selections "The Lamplit Hour" and "An Echo in the Valley," by the Amador high school glee club.

Overture, "One Beautiful Day" by the Amador high school band.

Selections, "Wake, Wake," "An Easter Song," "Bells of St. Mary's" and "A Marching Song" by pupils of the upper grades of the Pleasanton grammar school.

Address of the evening by D. E. Martin, county superintendent of Alameda county schools.

"America" sung by the audience.

Amador English Students See Shakespearian Play

A number of English students of the Amador Valley high school, Pleasanton, attended the Shakespearean play, "Hamlet" in which Walter Hampden took the leading role, at the Oakland auditorium Monday afternoon.

The students were acoompanied by Miss Eleanor Perry and Mr. and Mrs. E. O. McCormick.

The play was greatly enjoyed by the students.

Among those who went were Wilbur Davis, Bud Perry, Bob Howell, Thelma Norris, Melva Madsen, Merle Kamp, Radcliffe Howell, Eleanor Boothe, Helen Rivolta, Helen Cronin, Albert Chadbourne and Lorrene Green, all of Pleasanton.

Caterpillar Swarms Eat Mission Orchard

Hordes of tent caterpillars, exhibiting enormous appetites for young prune leaves, are swarming over hillside orchards near Mission San Jose, much to the dismay of farmers in that area.

Orchardists say that the insects are issuing from a somewhat neglected strip of property reserved for the Hetch Hetchy pipeline right-of-way. For the last three years the orchards of neighboring farmers have been invaded from this center of infection.

Prune and almond trees are reported as most susceptible to the pests, but it is reported that apricot orchards are not immune. The farmers harassed by this scourge are controlling it by spraying it with kerosene, or by applying open flame to infested trees.

Pleasanton Man Dies After Brief Illness

Another well-known and highly respected man of Pleasanton was called to meet his Maker when death claimed Antone Alameda, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Jimmie George, at Pleasanton, last Thursday afternoon.

Alameda had been ill for the past two weeks with pneumonia. He was seventy-six years old at the time of his passing.

He was a native of the Azores Islands and came to California when a young man. He stayed here for a couple of years and then went back to the Azores where he married and returned to Sunol where he lived for three years, after which he moved to Pleasanton. He lived here for forty-six years. Alameda worked practically all his life as manager for a number of well-known daries in this community. For the past several months he worked as janitor at the Bank of America.

Alameda was a member of the I. D. E. S. and the U. P. E. C. lodges of Pleasanton, which organizations assisted in the funeral services.

The funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon from the St. Augustine's church with interment following at the St. Augustine's cemetery. His casket bearers were M. M. Rodrigues, J. V. Pereira, Sr., T. H. Silver, Joe S. Soito, Manuel Pereira, and A. P. Silva, all of Pleasanton.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Mamie George and Mrs. Julia Crommie, of Pleasanton, and three sons, Manuel, of Eureka, Joseph, of San Francisco, and Antone, of Oakland. He also leaves a brother in the Azores Islands.

District Camporee To Be Held at Livermore

Plans for the Eastern District Camporee to be held at the Livermore high school grounds on May 6 and 7 were discussed at a meeting held at the Sunol grammar school Tuesday evening.

Scouts from Sunol, Pleasanton and Livermore will compete in this Camporee. This is to give the boys practice for the big Camporee to be held in Oakland May 28 and 29.

The boys will be taken to Livermore within one mile of the school and will have to hike the last mile with their blankets and food supplies.

They will return home Sunday evening.

Pleasanton Pair Injured Near Dublin

In an auto accident which occurred on the Dublin Canyon road Thursday evening, caused by the breaking of the steering apparatus, Charles Jones and Mrs. Ruth Boyd, both of Peasanton, received severe injuries.

According to reports the car turned over a couple of times on roadside after it had gotten out of control.

Mrs. Boyd received a broken right arm and a severe cut above the right eye, and Jones sustained a fractured left hand and wrist. The car was badly damaged.

STALIN'S WIFE GAVE LIFE TO SAVE MATE

Officials Believe Poison Intended for Dictator.

London.—Throughout the length and breadth of Russia agents of the dreaded G. P. U., the Soviety secret service, have their ears to the ground in the hopes of getting some clew to the persons who are believed to have fatally poisoned the wife of Joseph Stalin while seeking the life of the dictator himself.

This is the report which has trickled out of Russia past the rigid censorship which Moscow exercises over all news. It bears out previous reports that Mme. Stalin—although she never abandoned her maiden name—had succumbed to a deadly drug in pursuance of her habit of tasting food intended for her husband some hours before it was served to him.

Explains Puzzle.

If true, it explains the puzzle of why "Comrade Nadeja Sergeivna Alliluieva," as she was officially known, was given the most impressive funeral, marked by pomp and ceremony, accorded any individual under the Soviet regime although in life she was retiring, self-effacing and insignificant in the general Soviet scheme.

Comment outside of Russia was aroused when the official announcement of Mme. Stalin's death failed to mention the cause. It was a terse statement, signed by the seven officials highest in the Soviet government and their wives. It referred to her by her maiden name and only as the "friend and devoted aid of our Comrade Stalin" and as "our comrade and friend and the finest person."

It served to recall that when Stalin suddenly leaped into the dictatorship after a ruthless and stormy career of violence under his predecessors it was said that his wife had made herself his "official taster" to test all his food as part of the precautions to protect him against the constant plotting of his enemies.

Taking such a duty upon herself would have been in keeping with the romance which began when she was merely a school girl, daughter of a locksmith in Georgia, and Stalin, part Georgian, part Mongolian, fell in love with her, parted from his first wife and waited until the girl reached adolescence to marry her at seventeen.

Rarely Seen in Public.

Public appearances of Mme. Stalin were very rare despite the high position of her husband. They and their two children, a boy of eleven and a girl of six, and a twenty-three-year-old son of Stalin's first marriage lived in Spartan seclusion. So little known, in fact, was Mme. Stalin that for a year she attended an industrial academy to take a course in artificial silk making without her identity becoming public until she was posted for "cutting" classes, a demerit which she made up in time to graduate last June.

That some weighty reason lay behind the pomp of Mme. Stalin's funeral is indicated by the fact that Stalin permitted it, for the dictator is a man of simple tastes, of almost Puritanical ideas where his home and family are concerned and inclined to frown upon any display of rank.

Yet he permitted his wife's body to lie in state in a red coffin, amid white chrysanthemums — Russia's mourning flower—and threw open the doors that 100,000 persons might file past the bier in silent tribute to her. He could have forbidden, but did not, the miles long funeral procession in which infantry and cavalry marched past a million civilians banked along the route, but he and his fellow officials followed the red hearse on foot.

It was a marvelous display, but why should the Soviet bestow it upon a woman whose only claim to fame was that she was Stalin's wife? Was there some secret, known only to a few, why it should wish to bury her in splendor among those of royal blood?

Did Mme. Stalin die a martyr to her devotion to her world-famous husband?

Did she sacrifice her life that the dictator might live?

Electric Light "Gun" Used to Direct Flyers

Los Angeles.—An electric light "gun" that "shoots" landing and take-off signals at air pilots is now being tested at the United airport, model air terminal at Los Angeles. It has a conventional pistol grip and sights, and when aimed and fired with a trigger, it flashes red or green lights, equally visible by day or night for twenty miles. The beam gun has been developed by the Department of Commerce to supplant flag signals for directing flyers to land and take off.

PROPER DIET CHECK ON DECAY OF TEETH

Proved by Research in China by Missionaries.

New York.—Two missionaries, experimenting for ten years among the Chinese and Tibetians, at last have found the first real proof that decay of teeth can be prevented by scientific eating and that careful attention to teeth acts as a check to cancer.

Their findings have been checked by further experiments on hundreds of rats and on 350 children and Dr. E. V. McCollum of Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, one of the world's foremost dietitians, in accepting their conclusions as 100 per cent scientific proof hails their work as a "milestone in scientific progress."

Tests Successful.

The missionaries are Dr. and Mrs. R. Gordon Agnew, instructors in West China university, to which they are returning after two years' furlough in Toronto and the United States where they brought their tests to a successful conclusion.

Their work, Doctor McCollum says, has done away with long existing confusion about the diet needed for teeth. Vitamin D, one of the essentials, comes from sunshine and cod liver oil or substitutes. The phosphorous foods, in the order of their importance, are egg yolk, milk, meats, leafy vegetables and the seeds, grains, roots and tubers. The saliva probably protects the teeth through phosphorus it receives from the blood.

First clew for the Agnews' discovery came from a detailed study and analysis of the diets of 3,000 Orientals whose teeth generally are better than those of Americans. Later, at the University of Toronto, the missionaries were able to cause full decay in teeth of rats by diet alone or prevent it almost at will.

This year the experiments with children were made with the result that decay not only was prevented in the teeth of those with the rich phosphorus Vitamin D balance but decay already started was stopped.

Old Beliefs Discarded.

The experiments have cast overboard many longheld beliefs as to the cause of tooth decay, according to Doctor McCollum. Too much sugar and too much sweets do not cause decay. They merely satisfy the appetite so quickly that the essentials of decay-preventing diet are not wanted or eaten.

A deficiency of Vitamin C, often blamed for decay, has nothing to do with teeth preservation. Vitamin D is the all-important one.

Leipzig Radio Station Will Be Most Powerful

London.—The most powerful foreign voice to be heard over British radios in the future will be the German, when nightly transmission starts over the Leipzig station. The revamped German station with a maximum operating power of 150 kilowatts will be the most powerful transmitter in Europe.

German music and programs soon will boom over the British isles in tremendous volume, and under favorable conditions even may be heard in America when the Leipzig station unlimbers its full power. The Leipzig transmitter will surpass by 30 kilowatts the stations at Warsaw and Prague, which now share the distinction of being Europe's most powerful broadcasters.

Even during the last few weeks, the once comparatively weak voice of Leipzig has been heard in Great Britain when the new station has been carrying out tests at the close of the regular Frankfort programs. These tests have been made over a wave length of 390 meters, which Leipzig is to adopt when the regular high-power transmission begins. In the general re-shuffle of German wireless stations, Frankfort will simultaneously take over Leipzig's old wave length of 259 meters and also increase its power.

Noted Men Who Were Below Average in Height

Biographies show that on the whole there have been more prominent men above middle height than below. On the other hand, a great many short men have made the world sit up and take notice.

There was Napoleon Bonaparte, whose short stature gave him the nickname of "the little corporal." He was 5 feet 2 inches in height. Stephen A. Douglas, who was scarcely more than five feet tall, was affectionately nicknamed "the little giant." And President Martin Van Buren was "the little magician" in allusion to his shortness of stature and his mastery of political wizardry.

Gen. George B. McClellan, the Democratic candidate against Abraham Lincoln in 1864, was "Little Mac," and sometimes—paradoxically—"Little Napoleon," a title which he shared with General Beauregard. Admiral Farragut was 5 feet 6½ inches tall.

Oliver Wendell Holmes, John Paul Jones and Gen. Phil Sheridan were each 5 feet; Beethoven was scarcely more than 5 feet 4 inches; John Keats a little more than 5 feet and Swinburne and Whistler are given as 5 feet or so in stature.

Other men who are described as being short, or under medium height were Chaucer, Michelangelo, Chopin, John Milton, Robespierre, Alexander Pope, Charles Lamb, Ibsen, Thoreau, Thomas Moore, William H. Seward, John Quincy Adams, William Ellery Channing, Andrew Carnegie, Alexander Hamilton and the late Dwight W. Morrow.

An Iceless "Icebox" Can Be Easily Made at Home

An efficient refrigerating box to be used without ice can be constructed of a small quantity of lumber, screen wire, burlap and pans. In places where ice is not available it is quite efficient. The construction is simple, the framework of the box being constructed of small wood, such as 1 by 2 pine. The sides were left open, being covered only with screen wire, but the top is made of solid wood. One side is used for a door. On the top of the refrigerator a pan of water is placed.

Four strips of burlap are required, of sufficient length to reach from the pan of water on top to another pan kept under the refrigerator. These strips are soaked in water and then placed in position. The box is located in a position where it is in the path of a breeze, and the evaporation of the water follows, the evaporating action serving to chill the interior of the box. —Washington tar.

Ants Carry Earth to Trees

Spherical masses of earth from which various forms of vegetation grow are frequently found in the branches of tropical trees, and sometimes these reach remarkable size. They are the nests of certain species of ants that carry the earth up the trunks of the trees particle by particle. It is believed by some that the plants found growing in these nests are actually planted by the ants, but this is open to doubt. Suspended masses of earth in a humid tropical forest might easily become seeded without the aid of the ants.

Getting It Over With

"Junior," mother said sternly to the small culprit, "I hate to do it, but I'm going to whip you—not because you broke the windshield, but because you didn't mind me when I told you to go somewhere else to play."

"Please, mother," begged the boy tearfully, "can't you whip me for breaking the windshield, too, while you're about it? Dad'll be so mad when he comes in that he'll want to give somebody a licking for that."

The Other Way

"NEXT stop's Pennelton, ma'am," Marion Caruthers looked up, put the magazine she was reading into her grip and put on her coat and hat. A moment later she was standing on the platform.

"Miss Caruthers?" said a pleasant voice, and Marion saw before her a middle-aged man with bared head.

"I'm Thompson, the principal of the school where you're going to teach."

"How nice of you to meet me," she said. "I'm awfully glad you're the principal because I know I'll like you."

"You're very young, Miss Caruthers," he mused.

"Yes, this is my first school," she admitted.

"And to come so far."

"It is a long way, but I've always wanted to see the South."

"I hope you'll like it; we do. We'll just get home in time for dinner," he continued.

"Dinner!" she gasped. "Why, up home we always have dinner at six o'clock."

"We're just ordinary folks down here. Guess you'll have to make allowances."

Mrs. Thompson met Marion at the door and gave her a warm welcome.

"So glad to see you, dear. Are you very tired? Dinner's just ready. I'll show you your room so you can take off your things."

When Mrs. Thompson came back down stairs she and her husband had a hurried word in the hall.

"Isn't she attractive!" said Mrs. Thompson. "What lovely eyes and such a quick infectious smile."

"Yes, I'm afraid she's too young to manage children in a country high school. Had no experience."

Their comments were cut short by the entrance of Marion and they all hurried into the dining room.

"Biscuits?" said Marion, quizzically at the dining table. "Up North we have bread—bake Wednesdays and Saturdays."

"I'm sorry we have none," said the professor quietly.

"And you serve string beans with pork," Marion went on in amazement. "I never saw that before."

By the time the meal was over Mrs. Thompson felt that somehow her well-cooked dinner had fallen short of the mark. It was very discouraging—she had worked so hard.

The following day school began and Marion was busy all the rest of the week getting things organized in her classroom.

At the first parent-teachers' meeting she nearly had an open tilt with one or two of the mothers. She just could not make them see. And worse of all, she had a feeling that they did not understand her. There was only one person in Pennelton who did, and he was John Hamilton, the Latin teacher.

Fall slipped into winter and the students of Pennelton county high pegged away. Marion had enjoyed the Thanksgiving holiday immensely. Professor Hamilton's mother had invited her over to Thanksgiving dinner. Then there were two dances and Marion had made a decided hit each night. Still she did not feel that she was one of them. Southern people were nice, but queer—so queer.

And now spring had come again and soon Marion would be going back home and for some peculiar reason she was not sure that she was glad. She had made a success of her teaching and Professor Thompson had been unstinted in his praise of her work.

The parent-teachers decided to give a parting banquet in honor of themselves and to commemorate a most successful year's work. Marion put on her best evening dress and looked her stunningest as she sat beside Professor Thompson at the long table.

Mrs. Burton rose and began to make a speech.

"This banquet," she said, "is in honor of Miss Caruthers. Everything on the table has been prepared by a northern woman we coaxed over from Delton, and the recipes all came out of a northern cookbook. We wanted just once to do something down South as they do it up North, and—"

"Oh, forgive me," interrupted Marion, jumping up. "I see it all now, but I never realized how tactless it was. That's what's been the matter. What a little beast I've been! Would it help to make amends now if I tell you I love the South and the people and the cooking and everything, and I did so want them to love me. If you ever hear me say up North again I hope you'll run me out of the country. That's what I deserve, anyway."

Flushed and breathless, she dropped into her chair again.

"Yes, I'm certain Miss Caruthers feels every word she's said about liking the South and all that," said Professor Hamilton, rising, "because she—she's going to marry a down souther—she's going to marry me!"

"Jack, you—I never—"

But the rest was lost in a round of applause, while Professor Hamilton congratulated himself on his brilliant coup d'etat.

Another Law Wanted

Tall people and big people should be made to buy only seats in the rear of a theater.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Back Seat Driving Held Legitimate

Topeka, Kan.—In a unique decision the State Supreme court held the "back-seat driver" has a right to interfere with the frontseat driver.

The court added that not only had the occupant of the rear seat the right in give instructions, but that it was his, or her, duty to warn of approaching danger.

William G. Carter suffered from the decision. He was denied the right to collect damagets for personal injuries from the Missouri Pacific railroad.

Carter had been injured while being driven by his daughter-in-law.

His suit for damages came to the Supreme court. That body held that he, as a back-seat driver, was guilty of contributory negligence and not entitled to damages.

Old Manuscript Recalls Wolfe's Attack on Quebec

One of the most interesting discoveries pertaining to the early history of Canada, writes a correspondent in the New York Times, is the original manuscript copy, bound in rough cow hide, of General Wolfe's orders in preparation for the attack on Quebec in 1759 and its capture from the French under Montcalm in the famous battle of the Plains of Abraham in which both leaders were killed.

The book contains General Wolfe's order for the expedition up the St. Lawrence river, the siege of Quebec and his secret instructions for the landing below the cliff at what now is Wolfe's cove from which his little army ascended to the plains and victory. The first entry, made at sea, is dated May 16, 1759, and on June 8 there is a notation that General Wolfe had drawn his will leaving all his books and papers to Colonel Carleton, who was Sir Guy Carleton, his quartermaster general, afterward Lord Dorchester and governor general of Canada.

On the front of the cow-hide cover is burned in this brief inscription: "Book 1759." The orders in the first section are believed to be in the handwriting of Captain the Hon. Harvey Smyth, Fifteenth Regiment of Foot, but the writer of the latter portions is not known. Eventually the book will find a home in the national archives of Canada.

Paris Wine Exporters Name Wharf Roosevelt

Paris. — With elaborate ceremonies in which several large barrels of red wine were opened and consumed, the wharf on the Seine where most of the wine shipments are received was named Quai Franklin Roosevelt. Wine merchants and dock workers joined in the ceremony, drinking from the barrels and waving French and American flags.

Huge shipments of wine are being received daily at the Quai Franklin Roosevelt for storage pending repeal or modification of the Volstead act in the United States.

First Bird Reservation

There are now 75 bird reservations in the United States, Pelican island, Fla., which was established in 1903, being the first.

Pilgrims Established "Washday"

The fact that December 20, 1620, fell on Sunday made Monday washday for the whole United States. The Pilgrims established Monday as the traditional day of the American household for washing the clothes and linens. The day they landed on Cape Cod was Sunday. In their long voyage their supplies of clean clothing ran low. Fresh water aboard the Mayflower had been restricted to a few barrels for drinking and cooking. Consequently it is easy to see why the God-fearing newcomers seized the first opportunity after the Sabbath to freshen their wardrobes.—Washington Post.

Tanning Rabbit Skins

The method of treating rabbit skins at home, so that they can be used for coat trimmings is as follows:

First remove fat and flesh from the skin, then cover the flesh side with salt and allow to stand three or four days in a fairly cool place to dry out. Make a tanning solution of 4 pounds of salt and 5 gallons of water in a wooden tub, adding carefully 2 fluid ounces of sulphuric acid. Allow the skin to remain in this for one to three weeks, then rinse and dry in a shady place. Work and stretch the skin to make it pliable and rub in a little neatsfoot oil.
